

Female Trailblazer: Accelerate your success and lead with impact

Just back from leading another innovation journey for a group of executives in Stockholm, I witnessed again the power of conversation and collective intelligence. Sure, we always learn a lot from the cutting edge hubs we are visiting, but mostly the participants really gain from the insights they receive from each other and the people we meet. For me, that is the core of acceleration. This form of focus through conversation is deeply needed in the discussion of transformation and digital agendas.

Join our female virtual MasterMind.

Don't try to figure it out yourself. Connect with people outside of your silo and entity.

You'll not just receive lots of great advice but also build the foundation of the networks we are aiming to build for our companies.

We all know by now that 50% of Fortune 500 companies will disappear in the next 10 years. The ones who will survive create the intersection of networks such as Amazon, Salesforce.com or Google.

Are you prepared, ready to expand and accelerate and be a leader in this context?

Be the Trailblazer waiting inside of you .

What to expect

We will kick-off in January and for 6 months you are part of an amazing intimate group. Each month we will meet in virtual calls, receive 1:1 coaching laser sessions, challenge us via peer-to-peer conversations, and exchange and inspire us on an exclusive online platform.

Explore how radiantly powerful it is when courageous professionals from different industries share wisdom with each other.

Space is limited to only 7 participants so apply here fast.

Real and intimate conversations unfold instantly and personal growth accelerates.
